BUY EAST END PARK AS LOCAL ATHLETIC FIELD

Deal Made Through Manring and Co. for $1125 and Tract of City Property in West End—Close This Week

COMMUNITY CHEST FUND WILL COVER PAYMENT

The East End ball park has been purchased as an athletic field for Middlesboro public schools in considera- owned by the city in the West End, according to an announcement made at the Kiwanis Club today by Judge J. F. Bosworth. The deal was made through John Chesney and J. L. Manring of $1125 and a tract of property ling of Manring real estate company.

Judge Bosworth was a member of the committee appointed from the Kiwanis Club more than a year ago to get an athletic field. He said that a field on Winchester avenue had been considered but that it was owned by so many people it was almost impossible to ny it. A tract on Petersboro avenue was also thought of but the committee could not even get a price on i. So the East End site was decided on.

Mr. Chesney then went to the owners of the park with the proposition of trading the West End city property. After a great deal of discussion the owners offered to make the trade for a consideration of $2000. Mr. Manring then took the matter in hand and finally persuaded the owners to take the West End tract and $1000. In the meanime, though, the grand stand had been sold, but it was rebought for $125 making the total cost of $1125.

The Community Chest appropriated $1400 for the athletic field and with the improvements necessary for the grand stand and a fence this amount will about be exhausted. A check for the $1000 will be written today or tomorrow.

The letter from the city making the trade follows:

Whereas, the City of Middlesborough is the owner of a tract of land consisting of approximately 15 acres, situate in the West End section of said City, and,

Whereas, the public school system of the said City is in need of an athletic field for the physical development of the children patronizing said schools, and,

Whereas, the present base ball park is available for use as such athletic field, and can be exchanged for said West End property on fair and equitable terms, now therefore,

We, the undersigned mayor, and members of the Council of the City of Middlesborough, agree to exchange the said West End acreage, for the baseball park property, and agree that the said base ball park shall be available for the use of the public school system of the City, provded, however, that the title to said baseball park shall be in the City, and so remain; the said use of the said base ball park property to be free of cost to it, so long as same is used as an athletic field by the said school system.

Mr. J. L. Manring, is hereby authorized to negotiate the exchange of the said properties for and in behalf of the City, with the owners of the said base ball park property, without any additional cost to the City, however, other than the acreage given in exchange; and, the undersigned Mayor and Council aforesaid, hereby signify our approval of the said transaction, and agree to vote for the adoption of of all proper and necessary resolutions or ordinances to carry said transaction into legal effect at the next meeting of the Board of Council of said City, at which there is a quorum.

The Kiwanis Club gave a vote of thanks to Mr. Manring, the City and the Mayor for their endeavors.

MUST PAY DAY'S WAGES FOR DISTURBING PEACE

By Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 25.—For keeping the neighborhood of the rooming house wherein he resides, awake by imitations of canine howls, Morgan Long, a painter, will have to donate a day's wages to a needy family. The novel penalty was inflicted by Municipal Judge Meredith Yeatman, who directed that Lond appear in court on September 13 and make a donation of $16—which he earns a day at his trade.

It is said that Long's repertoire ranged from the fretful whine of the puppy to the bay of the bloodhound.

U. of K. Football Prospects For 1923 Are Good

By Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 25.—Prospects for a football and basketball team at the University of Kentucky during the year 1923-1924 have never been brighter in the history of the institution, according to Prof. S. A. Boles, athletic director. Letters have been received during the summer from students and friends of the university telling of the qualification of athletes who already have signed their intentions of coming to the university this fall. The list includes prominent athletes in the high schools of Kentucky and a number from adjoining states.

Interest centers this year in the football team which the university will turn out. Last season Kentucky's football team developed surprising strength and was far up in the running as the season drew to a close. Under the direction of Jack Winn, Mt. Sterling, graduate and assistant coach of Princeton, this year's team is expected to take its place among the foremost teams of the South in football. The freshman eleven last year ran over all comers and these men will be eligible to participate in varsity games this season. Many of the old men will have to show lots of speed and fight to be able to retain their places on the varsity lineup, according to Prof. Boles.

Letter men who will return this year to aid the Wildcats on the gridiron are Captain Del Ramsey, A. T. Rice, J. R. Russell, Givens Martin, Turner Gregg, Ted Brewer, W. H. Rice, R. L. Sanders and J. W. Caminack. Other members of the squad who did not make letters last year but who will return for another try at the coveted "K" are J. C. Brown, C. I. McLean, Cornelius Anderson, E. L. Bicknell, J. C. Ray, C. S. Stith, Ray Mirall, R. L. Mays, W. M. Insco, D. J. Gatton, Gardner Bayless, Sidney Neal, Elliott Netherton, H. A. McVey, and Tom Benyson. Four letter men of last year in basketball will return while the freshman five, undefeated last winter, will be eligible for the varsity. Kentucky should have the best basketball team in the state and perhaps in the South, according to Prof. Boles, if the men keep in the eligible class by keeping up in their studies.

The football schedule for the University of Kentucky for this season follows: September 20-29 Marshall at Lexington; October 6, Cincinnati at Cincinnati; October 13, Washington and Lee and Lexington; October 20, Maysville at Lexington; October 27, Georgetown at Lexington; November 3, Centre at Danville; November 10, Alabama at Tuscaloosa; November 17, Georgia Tech at Atlanta; November 29, Tennessee at Lexington. Homecoming game Thanksgiving.

HUGE PARADE FOR LEGION CONVENTION

1923 Meeting to Be Held in San Francisco October 13 to 19—World War Heroes Coming

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The biggest and most spectacular military parade ever held on the Pacific coast will take place here Tuesday morning, October 16, when the official parade of the American Legion 1923 national convention, is held, on the second morning of the Legionnaires' annualr national meeting, October 15 to 19.

20,000 officers and enlisted men from the United States battle fleet will march in the procession. Various military camps and army posts of northern California will furnish several thousand more marchers. Not less than 50,000 out of the great throng of Legionnaires expected here for their national conclave, will be in the line of march. Drill teams, crack bands, and military patrols of the Elks, Shriners, Knights of Columbus, and other leading organizations will take part in the parade. National officers and state commanders, wounded and disabled veterans, prominent world war heroes and their buddies will all be in the procession. A score of grand stands will offer points of vantage to those spectators who do not crown windows and building tops, and the sidewalk lines, to witness the brilliant array of military units.

Distinguished world war heroes from the various Allied nations will be in the reviewing stand, with National Commander Alvin Owsley, Lieutenant General Hunter Liggett, general chairman of the national convention committee, and other dignitaries reviewing the monster phalanx.

I. C. C. POSTPONES COAL CAR REFORM

Plan Cessation Special Car Service to Mines Furnishing Railroad Fuel

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The effective date of the interstate commerce commission's order requiring railroads to cease special car service to coal mines furnishing railroad fuel was postponed today from September 1 to October 1. They also deferred operation of an order prohibiting roads from giving preferment to private owners of cars in using their own equipment. Original protestants alleged these practices unfair.

MORE THAN HUNDRED KENTUCKIANS AT COLUMBIA, U.

In a letter from Supt. J. W. Bradner received here this week he writes that there are more than one hundred Kentucky students among the twelvet hous and enrolled in the Columbia University summer school which he is attending. REQUEST WOMEN ELECTION OFFICERS

League of Women Voters Meet Yesterday—Plan Big Mass Meeting Next Month

A motion to request local election commissioners to appoint a woman election officer in each ward at both the primaries and the election was passed at a meeting of the League of Women Voters yesterday afternoon. The women feel that, with their new privileges, as voters and office holders they should also take over more responsibilities.

Various reforms for the city were also discussed and several possible candidate for city commissioners were talked of. The League intends to take an active part in the city election.

It was definitely decided to have a large meeting some time next month, probably in the form of a tea, to which all women voters in Middlesboro would be invited, not merely members of the League of Women Voters. At this time a woman either from the state or national organization, will address the women on the duties and responsibilities of citizenship and voting.

L. AND N. PLANS HAZARD FIELDS EASTERN OUTLET

Would Connect Eastern Terminus With Elkhorn City, 35 Miles Away, Connect With New C. C. and O.

PROPOSITION IS CONFIRMED BY SUPERINTENDENT

By Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, July 26—Eastern outlet for Hazard, Ky., coal fields was predicted when reports became current here that the Louisville and Nashville railroad is to build a connecting link from its eastern terminus at McRoberts to Elk Horn City, thirty-five miles away. This would connect the northern terminus of the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio railway recently acquired under lease by the Atlantic Coast Line controlling the Louisville and Nashville. Supt Brent Arnold confirmed the story of the link to be built but could not say when work would begin.

PROGRESSIVENESS IN COLORADO TOWNS

All Sorts Modern Phases of Every Day Life Emphasized in Western Soft Coal Towns

WASHINGTON, July 26—Better baby contests, home garden competition, community beautification activities, evening classes for adults and special classes for defective children, are only a few of the modern phases of every day life in the soft coal towns of Colorado. A field investigator for the Bituminious Operators' Special Committee found these varied activities being promoted by operators and supported enthusiastically by the miner and his family.

A part of the civic improvement programme in effect in several Colorado soft coal mining districts, the operators furnish trees and fertilizer to extend interest in the task of improving the landscape in and around the residential districts. The companies also fence homes and equip gates with improved safety latches so that in districts where herd laws are not enforced home gardens are protected from the intrusion of roaming cattle. Prizes for the best gardens are provided and competition maintained between mining towns and villages.

"Better babies contests are held frequently," the investigator explained. "In one camp I was told nothing disturbed the tranquility of the place except the rivalry among the women as to whose children were the better dressed."

It was explained that evening classes are playing a prominent part in the educational life of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. These classes, sixteen in sixteen camps, are conducted by the Federal Board of Vocational Education jointly with the state and local school districts. Virtually 350 employees of the mines attend these classes. The course of study includes coal mine ventilation, machinist's practice, safety lamps, trade and industrial education, general mining, etc. Special classes in English, civics, history and penmanship are also held for foreign born.

CRUICKSHANK MAY PLAY JONES HERE

New Jersey Golfer Invited Here For Exhibition Games With Bobbie Jones

Robert Cruickshank, noted New Jersey golfer, has been invited by F. P. Scales, president of the Middlesboro Country club, to come here for exhibition games with Bobbie Jones, national open champion golfer. The letter to Mr. Cruickshank follows:

"Dear Mr. Cruickshank:—Mr Robert Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, present title holder of the open national golfers, has very graciously consented to play golf at Middlesboro to further the interest of golf in this section.

"I thought it would be very nice for both Mr. Jones and yourself to have a sociable match over our links so we propose to make you an offer, as we know it is customary for all professionals to be paid for an exhibition game. We feel that we could pay you $200 for this engagement which would net you approximately $100 or more other than your expenses.

"We have a delightful climate and our course is located in the heart of the Blue Ridge mountains. It is 3276 yards for nine holds which are in very good condition and quite difficult, with natural hazards."

The letter to Mr. Jones follows:

"Dear Mr. Jones: Attached you will find a copy of the letter I am mailing to Mr. Cruickshank whom we are endeavoring to secure to play you the match which you so graciously consented to play for us in the near future.

"Our entire community is very much excited over the opportunity of seeing our newly crowned open national champion and prize golfer of the South perform on our local links.

"I would suggest if there is any golfer that you would like to bring to the mountains and play on this occasion, we would be very glad to have them as our guests, including all expenses paid by our club."

SEND OUT 20,000 CATALOGS FOR LOCISVILLE FAIR

LOUISVILLE, July 26.—First distribution of Kentucky state fair catalogs here today showed the premium list to be the largest since the fair was established twenty-five years ago. The awards total $108,000 with a number of loving cups and other prizes to be presented.

The largest single stake is the $10,000 five-gaited saddle horse stake at which the world champion will be crowned. It is said this show is the largest of its kind in the world. Over 200,000 catalogues are ready for distribution.

ICE CREAM PLANT MAY COME HERE

Middlesboro and Pineville Business Men Plan Big Enterprise For This City

Plans for the establishment of an ice cream plant having a capacity of 1000 gallons per day are being made by Middlesboro and Pineville business men. Names of the promoters of the enterprise have not been made public but the enterprise is a certainty according to those interested in the project.

The plant will be located in Middlesboro. The exact place has not been selected though there are two sites under consideration. It will, in all probability, be near the new K. U. ice plant.

The plant will be equipped with the latest and best equipment and ice cream of excellent quality will be made. Present plans do not include the erection of a new building. Ice cream for Middlesboro, Pineville and other towns of this section will be supplied by the new plant.

Work on the new plant will begin as soon as final business arrangements are made. Business men who are interested in the enterprise are enthusiastic over the proposition, believing that it will not only be a good investment but a help to the town as well.

COAL MARKET SLOW, LOCAL SUPPLY MOSTLY TO SOUTHERN

The coal market is very slow this summer and no improvement is seen in the near future. Most of the coal being loaded is for the Southern Railway. The L. and N. gets coal from one mine. Monarch. A few of the mines supply a little local demand.

DR E. Y. MULLINS HEADS BAPTIST WORLD ALLIANCE

Louisville Man, President Theological Seminary, Well-Known Here, Unanimously Elected at Stockholm Meeting

ATTEND BAPTIST CONVENTION HERE IN NOVEMBER

By Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, July 26.—Dr. E. Y. Mullins of Louisville, Ky., was unanimously elected today president of the Baptist World Alliance by the third congress of the alliance in session here.

Dr. Mullins, head of the Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, is one of the most widely known Baptists in this country. He is noted as a teacher, a writer, a preacher and a theologian throughout the country. He was here in November attending the Baptist State convention, and many here who had known him before met him at this time. Local Baptists are highly pleased with this honor which has been given Dr. Mullins, both because of their high regard for him and because of the fact that he is a Kentucky Baptist.

KAISER BILL IS STILL IMPERIAL

William Receives Guests at Doorn With Same Arrogance As of Old

By Associated Press

DOORN, July 26.—William Hohenzollern, once German emperor, today in Doorn maintains his imperial airs as of old, according to the recitals of those who from time to time come in contact with him.

The latest story is contributed by a traveling company of student-actors. Augmenting their slender incomes by acting mediaeval mystery plays in various German and Dutch cities, the actors were requested to give a performance at the former emperor's residence. Before doing so they were received by William, and they have since given their impressions of the reception.

First they were instructed how to behave. "Speak to His Majesty just as the words come," said the marshal. "Address him in accordance with his exalted position, and kindly make a very, very low bow."

After eing admitted to the house, William and an officer appeared in the hall. One of the students describes William as having haughty movements and superior airs. His eyes are nervous, and a hard, pale grey in color. He has striking grey eyebrows. Lines of age furrow his brow, and his mouth seems extraordinarily sensuous. His beard and moustache have turned grey, and his complexion is unhealthy.

William wore a grey-green fieldcape and a green sporting hat. The student thought that civilian dress made him appear bourgeois. His manner of address was sharp and Prussian.

William's foible of omniscience appeared at once in his conversation, and he started right in. "So you are going to offer us mystery plays? They are, of course, the plays that reached such a flourishing condition among the ancient Greeks—"

Then the former monarch proceeded to give a history of these plays down to modern times. The marshal whispered delightedly to the student: "The Kaiser knows everything."

In the evening the student-actors played "The Dance of Death" and the lyrical "Paradise Play." Princess Hermine, William's wife, was greatly taken by the plays and as she came on the stage to thank the players she remarked: "You must come again. Here one perishes intellectually. It is seldom that anything of value is offered to us."

VERDICT GIVES NOT GUILTY IN WOODY TRIAL

Jury Considers Case Only Short While —Local Barber Charged With Murder of Bill Baker Here April 22

SELF-DEFENSE IS PLEA OF MAN HELD FOR SLAYING

A verdict of not guilty was returned this afternoon by teh jury on the case of George Woody, accused of the murder of Bill Baker, Middlesboro arber, on the night of April 22, on Nineteenth street. The case went to the jury at 11:10 and the verdict was returned before 2 o'clock. Woody pleaded that he shot Baker in self defense. Trial started yesterday morning.

Witnesses for the Commonwealth were Mrs. Bill Baker, J. W. Davis, Paul Leabow and Ross Shoemaker. Those for the defense were W. B. Ford C. Cuthbert, Murphy Keyes, Mrs. Mary Hale, Orbin Thomas, Richard Knipps, Hiram Thompson and Woody himself.

The general trend of the testimony of the various witnesses was the same. Hiram Thompson, who took part in the scuffle, and Woody gave the most detailed accounts. Testimony showed that the fight started with Baker and Woody, an employe in Baker's barber shop, scuffling and pulling hair which finally resulted in Baker knocking Woody down with hard words from both sides. Hiram Thompson, who has a store on Nineteenth street near the Baker barber shop, the scene of the fight, then went out and separated the two men. After this the men went off in different directions, Baker evidently going to his house for his gun. He came back and went down the street, meeting Woody again. Another fight ensued in which Baker hit Woody over the head with his gun, witnesses said, and in striking again, the gun flew out of his hand into the street. Woody got the gun before Baker could reach it then. In the meantime, though, Thompson had come out again to stop the fight. He urged Woody repeatedly not to shoot, and various reports on what Woody said at this time made up technical defferences in the case. Finally, though, Woody shot Baker several times, killing him.

Concluding arguments for the Commonwealth were made by B. B. Golden and for the defense by John Howard. Davis was the main witness for the state.

The grand jury which was organized Tuesday is busy examining cases. It is composed of the following men: Brack Gaddie, W. P. Golden, W. S. Robbins, J. W. Allison, G. H. Marting, Robert Shell, Melbourne Campbell, John Hoskins, John Valentine, S. P. Felton, Shelt Woolum and C. J. Turner.

WINCHESTER TO HAVE NEW THEATRE, COST NEAR $70,000

WINCHESTER, July 26.—Winchester isto have a new theater, according to amended articles of incorporation of the Winchester Amusement Company that were filed in the Fayette county clerk's office yesterday. The cost of the new structure will be approximately $70,000, including equipment, according to a statement made by H. C. Congleton, secretary of the company.

It was announced in the papers filed that the capital stock of the firm will be raised from $25,000 to $100,000, which will be divided into 1,000 shares with a par value of $100 each. Mr. Congleton states that the members of the board of directors had not decided upon the name of the new strucure, which will take the place of the old "Liberty" theater. The other officers of the company are S. D. Lee and S. B. Sparks, both residents of Lexington.

It is expected that construction will start about August 15.

A THOUGHT

But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition — I Tim. 6.9.

VIGILANCE OF OFFICERS HAS FAVORABLE RESULTS

It is pleasing to note the gradual decrease in crime in Middlesboro particularly liquor law violations Some arrests are made each week of course but this fact in itself indicates that officers are doing effective work

Liquor is scarce here now according to men in a position to know Vigilance of city, county and prohibition officers makes the nefarious liquor manufacture and sale altogether too hazardous for profit derived from it There may be doubtless a few small stills out in the secluded places of the hills but the present scarcity of whiskey is evidence that the moonshiner is becoming a back number

Prohibition laws can be enforced and even the most pessimistic are beginning to realize it Of course as long as there are men with heavy purses and burning thirsts it will be difficult to entirely stop the traffic but the old order of things is rapidly disappearing and we are readily adapting our lives to the new

Another evil which the officers are regulating is that of speeding The efficient work of county officers on the Pineville road Sunday is bringing result Speed fiends are no longer looked upon as heroes with sporting tendencies they are now regarded as menaces to society as dangerous persons who should be punished by law

Compared with other towns where liquor and other forms of immorality are wide open Middlesboro is an exceptionally clean town There are some bad places which need attention but recent successes of officers lead us to believe that these will soon disappear

THE LEADER AND GENERAL DAWSON

The Louisville Courier Journal is not yet satisfied with the course which The Lexington Leader is pursuing toward the gubernatorial race

The Courier Journal can find absolutely nothing to say against the personal character or fitness of General Dawson His one objection is that he supported Mr Maurice Galvin to [illegible] the primary campaign Only a few days ago The Courier Journal said

The Courier Journal has made a indictment of Mr Dawson a most odious character It has concluded his diatribe as a lawyer and his good record as attorney general What this newspaper has contended and what can not be denied is that he has been controlled in his candidacies for governor by Maurice Galvin and his machine It would run and he would not run as Galvin decided He professed to give himself to the law and a quiet contentment but when Galvin professed that he announce for governor he announced Galvin nominated him despite the fact that the strongest popular sentiment in the rank and file of the party was against him

If The Courier Journal were correctly informed about the pre convention proceedings it would understand that it has from the start been wrong in its statement about the candidacy of General Dawson

As a matter of absolute fact—and The Leader knows what it is talking about—The Courier Journal can more than Mr Galvin is responsible for the final determination of General

The Terror Of Death

When I have fears that I may cease to be
Before my pen has gleam'd my teeming pain,
Before high-piled books, in charact'ry
Hold like rich garners the full ripen'd grain;
When I behold upon the night's starr'd face,
Huge cloudy symbols of a high romance,
And think that I may never live to trace
Their shadows with the magic hand of chance.
And when I feel, fair creature of an hour!
That I shall never look upon thee more,
Never have relish in the fairy power
Of unreflecting love—then on the shore
Of the wide world I stand alone, and think
Till love and fame to nothingness do sink.

Picnic and Tea Sandwiches

Sandwiches for picnics, sandwiches for tea and sandwiches for parties are always in season These fillings may be new to you and help fill the picnic or tea sandwiches. Combinations are always interesting and more or less intriguing to the summer appetite.

Olive and Pimento

One pint small green olives, 1 can pimentoes.

Cut meat of olives from stones. Put olives and pimentos through food chopper. Mix thoroughly and put between thin slices of bread and butter.

Cream Cheese and Pimento

Four tablespoons butter, 1 cnufchatel cheese or 4 tablespoons cottage cheese, 2 pimentoes, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon paprika.

Work butter to a cream, eat in the cheese and minced pimentoes. Work smooth and spread on thin slices of brown or white bread.

Cheese, Olive, Pimento

Mix 1-2 cup chopped olives, 1-4 cup minced pimentoes and 4 tablespoons cream cheese. Put between thin slices of bread and butter.

Nut and Celery

One-half cup chopped English walnuts of hickory nuts, 1-2 cup minced celery, salad dressing.

Mix nuts and celery and make moist enough to spread with salad dressing.

Nut and Cheese

Four tablespoons cream, 1-2 cup of cottage cheese, 1 cup finely chopped nuts, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika.

Whip cream Beat in cheese and nuts. Add salt and paprika and spread on brown bread and butter.

These sweet sandwiches are very nice with lemonade or tea.

Date and Nut

One-half cup chopped dates, 1-2 cup chopped blanched almonds, 1-4 cup whipped cream, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Mix ingredients and spread on thin slices of brown bread and butter.

Fig and Nut

One-half cup chopped figs, 1-2 cup chopped nuts lemon juice

Mix figs and nuts and add lemon juice to make moist. Use with brown bread.

Prune and Peanut Butter

Wash prunes well. Pour boiling water over prunes and let stand for 10 minutes. Dip in cold water and dry on a clean, soft cloth. Cut from stones and put through food chopper. To 1-2 cup chopped prunes add 4 tablespoons peanut butter. Work smooth and put between thin slices of bread and butter.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our many friends and doctors for their kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our little son, Cecil.

Mr. and Mrs. Gillis Robbins.

In playing from the tee A just grazes his ball on the downward swing, causing it to move about four inches off the sand tee. It is apparent that the sand used for making the tee will interfer with A in his next shot. A contends that he has the right to remove the sand and not suffer a penalty for so doing. B, his opponent, contends that he has no right and should be penalized if he did remove the sand Who is right?

A is correct in his contention. The sand used for the tee should be regarded as loose impediment, which of course gives A the right to remove it without suffering any penalty.

In dropping a ball that has been lifted from a water hazard, the understanding is that the ball cannot be dropped nearer to the hole In a recent match between A and B the direct opposite of this condition arose. A contends that a player after lifting a ball from a water hazard could go back as far as he choose before dropping the ball which B insisted certain restrictions existed. Who is right?

A is correct in his contention. A player has the right to go as far back as he pleases, even to the teeing ground, providing he keep the place where the ball crossed the margin of the hazard between himself and the hole in dropping the ball.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Magnus Johnson's election as Farmer-Labor senator from Minnesota was 1923's big political event to date.

It was a stiff Republican jolt because it meant defeat of the administration's choice, Governor Preus. Democrats register joy on account of this, but their own candidate was beaten worse than Preus.

Really it was a Third Party victory—a wallop for Republicans and Democrats alike.

It may not mean a Third Party presidential nomination next year, but it increases the chances of one. With three candidates in the field it wouldn't be surprising if election failed to settle the 1924 fight, leaving the House of Representatives to choose the next president.

Balance of Power

In a way, Johnson's election is worse for the Republicans than for the Democrats.

The Republican administration has policies. It can't make the effective without House and Senate majorities. It hasn't got them. In both congressional branches the independents, of various sorts, hold the balance of power. Johnson will be a recruit for this group.

True, the independents may not help the Democrats to accomplish anything constructive. The administration could block that anyway. But constructive accomplishment isn't the Democrats' present aim. With a Republican administration in office, their game's to gum the cards. It's likely the will be able to make the independents help them do this.

As to the Tariff

Naturally the Democrats will howl all they're worth about the low price of agricultural products—with wheat costing more to grow than the farmers can sell it for.

The Republicans, when they went into power, put the tariff away up, saying the farmers would benefit by plenty of protection. Prices of everything the farmers have to buy have stayed high, but prices of things they have to sell have slumped.

The Republicans claim it would have been worse yet, but for the tariff. This doesn't satisfy the farmers, judging by the Minnesota senatorial election result.

The farm bloc leaders dictated the tariff, in so far as agriculture was concerned, so they can't arraign the Republicans with a very good grace, but the Democrats can. They said all along the tariff increases were a bad thing.

Alaska All Excited

President Harding, who went to Alaska to get away from politics, has run into a political hornets' nest there.

Certain Alaskans claim a few lines of big business are trying to gobble the territory's resources for themselves. They charge official corruption, too.

And they sized the opportunity when the president was in their midst to air their grievances.

England and France

Premier Poincare of France, in a speech, has definitely turned down the suggestions of Premier Baldwin of England for a Ruhr settlement.

Only very unsophisticated folk are swallowing the story that England and France really want the same thing and only differ as to the best way of accomplishing it.

The truth is that France is trying to establish herself securely as dominant continental European power and England's trying to prevent this, her traditional policy being to keep any European rival of her own from becoming too strong. It's exactly such a situation as led to the last war.

Then it was England and Germany. Now it's England and France.

PAY TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF SUSAN ANTHONY

Three Hundred Women in Convention At Rochester Make Pilgrimage to Grave of Great Women's Rights Leader

ELABORATE PROGRAM TO HONOR FORMER LEADER

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 2.—Three hundred women who have been tending the conference of the Woman's Party at Seneca Falls aer here to lead the pilgrimage to the grave of Susan B. Anthony who lived in Rochester for more than sixty years, and was during all that time the leader of the feminists movement in America. With this tribute to Miss Anthony, the Woman's Party brought to close its three day conference which began a celebration at Seneca Falls of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the first woman's rights convention.

After luncheon with the Chamber of Commerce, the Woman's Party members were taken by automobile to Highland Park where they were joined in their pilgrimage to Mt. Hope Cemetery by thousands of citizens. The pilgrimage was led by Mayor Van Zandt and the city officials, and by the friends and relatives of Miss Anthony.

Following them marched groups representing professions and classes which had benefited by Miss Anthony's untiring devotion to their interests. There were women teachers, students, lawyers, doctors, musicians, nurses, artists, authors, journalists, business women, women in industry, women's clubs, temperance workers and the negro race. Each of these groups carried a banner and wreath to which was attached an expression of gratitude to Miss Anthony.

Next in order, came the Woman's Party delegation, marching by States, each state group bearing a banner and a wreath. At the head of this delegation, marched the standard-bearers of the Woman's Part carrying three banners, one of which was inscribed with the last words spoken by Susan B. Anthony in public: "Failure is impossible." Another bore the inscription carried in all suffrage parades: "Forward out of Darkness,

Leave behind the night,
Forward out of error,
Forward into light."

The last displayed the couplet from Walt Whitman used by the Woman's Party in the closing years of its suffrage campaign: "Without Extinction is Liberty; without Retrograde is Equality." Thousands of pilgrims from Rochester and the vicinity continued the procession, which required several hours for its completion. Each pilgrim as he passed the grave placed upon it a wreath or a flower.

At the grave, Madame Nevada Van der Veer, noted contralto, sang to the accompaniment of harps, flutes and strings. Three brief speeches were made.

Mayor Van Zandit said "Rochester's pride in having been the residence of Susan B. Anthony for so many years was always great, and it has increased with the passing of time. We rejoice that this pilgrimage is bringing to Miss Anthony the tribute of a nation."

President Louis S. Foulkes of the Chamber of Commerce said in part: "In her lifetime the presence of Miss Anthony in Rochester made it a place of pilgrimage for leaders of thought from all parts of the world. It is our hope and belief that the nation at large will soon recognize the greatness of Susan B. Anthony, and will make of her grave a venerable shrine."

Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont, President of the Woman's Party, said in part: "We here pledge the single-minded devotion of the Woman's Party to the Equal Rights cause to which Miss Anthony devoted sixty years of unwearying labor. In proposing our equal rights amendment to the federal constitution, is our purpose to carry on the work of Susan B. Anthony, drawing strength and inspiration from her example, until the last discrimination against women has been wiped off of the statute books and eradicated from the customs of our land."

COAL MINE NOT ULTRA-HAZARDOUS

Report Says 138 Other Occupations in Kentucky More Dangerous Than Miners'

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 24.—Underground mining of soft coal in Kentucky—one of the major industries of the state—is less hazardous than 138 other occupations all of which have been given higher workmen's compensation rates, according to statistics developed by the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee from data of the National Council of Workmen's Compensation. The committee believes that this condition is due to the progress made in accident prevention through safety and health education and the installation of safety devices, the latter, of which has been somewhat hindered by opposition of miners' groups in some sections.

Comparison of workmen's compensation reinsurance schedules for bituminous coal mining with rates in other industries in Kentucky show that while the rate for underground mining is $3.40 on every $100 of payroll the rate for bottling is $5.08; tool manufacturing, $3.99; sand and gravel digging, $4.45; cotton seed oil manufacturing, $5.19; masonry, $4.54; painting, $14.98; carpentry, $6.50; painting and decorating, $7.03; junk dealers, $8.96; sales table workers, $5.53; operation of merry-go-rounds, $6.41; and cattle-dealers, $3.40.

Other occupations on which the insurance rate is higher than coal mining are: Operation of farm machinery; manufacturing of turpentine and rosin; cotton ginning and pressing; road building; quarrying, sawmills, veneer making, steel manufacture, chain making, bridge building, iron and steel erection and many others.

The Bituminous Operators' Special Committee, of which John C. Brydon is chairman, is cooperating with the United States Coal Commission in the assembling of facts about the coal industry.

INTEGRITY Studebaker SERVICE

Announcement

THE STUDEBAKER CORPORATION OF AMERICA is pleased to announce to its customers, friends, and the public generally, its complete line of new

1924 Model Studebaker Cars

Avoiding the superlatives frequently used in automobile advertisements, the Corporation desires to faithfully state the facts concerning these cars and the reasons why the public should buy them.

THE CARS

In design, quality of materials, standard of workmanship, durability, refinements, performance, freedom from repairs, and price, the Studebaker 1924 Model Cars are distinctly the greatest intrinsic values the Corporation has ever offered.

Every improvement the safety and practicability of which have been verified by engineering tests is embodied in these new cars.

The Big-Six

THE BIG-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 126-inch chassis with 60 H. P. 3⅞ x 5 inch motor:

7-passenger Touring Car - $1750 5-passenger Coupe - $2550
5-passenger Speedster - $1835 7-passenger Sedan - $2750
all prices f. o. b. factory

Refinements and a few minor mechanical changes have been made in the Big-Six, which has established an enviable record for five years. Our large production accounts for its low price. It is a car of the highest grade, comparable to the best.

The Special-Six

THE SPECIAL-SIX LINE comprises four models mounted on the standard 119-inch chassis with 50 H.P. 3½x5 inch motor:

2-passenger Roadster - $1325 5-passenger Coupe - $1975
5-passenger Touring Car - $1350 5-passenger Sedan - $2050
all prices f. o. b. factory

Radiator, hood, cowl, and body changes have been made in the Special-Six, with minor mechanical changes and refinements in the chassis. The Special-Six has for five successive years added luster to the name STUDEBAKER. It is one of the most satisfactory and finest cars on the market. It is as good in every respect as the Big-Six, except that it is smaller, and costs less to produce, and therefore sells for less.

The Light-Six

THE LIGHT-SIX LINE comprises four models, mounted on the standard 112-inch chassis with 40 H.P. 3⅛x4½ inch motor:

3-passenger Roadster - $975 2-pass. Coupe-Roadster-$1225
5-passenger Touring Car - $995 5-passenger Sedan - $1550
all prices f. o. b. factory

No body or mechanical changes except refinements have been made in the Light-Six. Over 130,000 Light-Sixes have been produced in the new, modern $30,000,000 Studebaker plant at South Bend, Indiana, under most economical and almost ideal manufacturing conditions. In our judgment, it stands out as the greatest value and the closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.

THE REASONS WHY

With $90,000,000 of actual net assets and $45,000,000 invested in plants, Studebaker has ample physical facilities to manufacture most economically.

Studebaker's organization of manufacturing executives, engineers, metallurgists, chemists, inspectors, and skilled mechanics is second to none in the industry. The design of Studebaker cars and the workmanship upon them conform to the highest principles of engineering standards and mechanical practice known to the industry.

Best of Materials Used

Studebaker cars contain the finest known grades of iron, steel, aluminum, tires, electrical equipment, glass, bearings, etc. No better materials for automobile manufacture exist. Sheet aluminum has but one-third the tensile strength of sheet steel, and consequently, Studebaker uses sheet steel for its bodies.

By the manufacture of drop forgings, castings, stampings and the machining, assembling and finishing of motors, axles, frames, transmissions, bodies, tops, etc., and the consequent elimination of middlemen's profits, coupled with lower overhead factory costs per car arising from quantity production and low commercial expenses, Studebaker's costs are kept at an economically low point possible of attainment only by manufacturers with vast physical and financial resources.

Bodies Unexcelled

The bodies of Studebaker cars are not excelled in quality of materials and craftsmanship, by any cars on the market. The Coupe and Sedan closed bodies are magnificent examples of the coach builder's art.

Merit Wins

The sales of Studebaker cars for the past six years have shown each and every year a progressive increase. 81,880 cars were sold in the first six months of 1923 as against 60,053 for the same period last year. Only products of merit can make such growth.

MAGNUS JOHNSON IS SURE ENOUGH FARMER SENATOR

Receives Visitor in Overalls on Farm, Ten Miles From Railroad, Speaks With Swedish Accent—Wife Milks Cows

SAYS WASHINGTON FELLOWS WON'T LEARN HIM ANYTHING

KINGSTON, Minn., July 25.—"You have come a long way just to see an ordinary Minnesota farmer."

That is the comment of the neighbors in this village, 10 miles from the railroad, when an interviewer asked the road to the farm of Magnus Johnson.

And when the visitors arrived at the old white six-room house overshadowed by a huge barn, it is a perspiring, overall-clad farmer, with two dogs bounding beside him, who comes out to give them welcome. His impressive sincerity and zest for combat don't appear until later.

The neighbors' phrase of "ordinary" fits Magnus Johnson so far as his appearance on the far is concerned. He is sighly below average height, but broad of frame. His hair is brown with a bald spot on top, and his bushy mustache is reddish brown. Small, light-blue eyes snap behind heavy rimmed, over-thick glasses. It is a squarecut, cheerful, alert face.

His picturesque crudity externally will make him anything but ordinary in the Senate. Aside from the ordinary is a striking similarity in appearance to Theodore Roosevelt which this rustic is delighted to head referred to.

"Call Me Mangus"

First greetings include the new title of "senator."

"Call me Mangus," says the senator, and the manner is anything but a pose.

A rich Swedish accent shows as he bellows his words in the conversational tone which can be heard on the next farm. The accent will be found to include "yentlemen" for "gentlemen," "wery" for "very" and "shores" for "chores."

"This is Mangus Johnson Junior," he says, as he seizes his stage-frightened 14-year-old namesake and drags him forward for introduction.

"Mangus is a very good boy," says the father, his blue eyes shining thru over-thick spectacles and his teeth showing in a broad smile under the bushy reddish mustache. "Mangus has to work hard on the farm. He was born on the Fourth of July. Who says I am not patriotic?"

Then are introduced the others of the family—"Ma" Johnson, a large, pleasant-smiling, unaffected countrywoman; Lillian, 23; Victor, 21; Francis, 19; Agnes, 10, and Florence, 9.

Family of Workers

They bore the burden of farm work during the campaign. On election day Mrs. Johnson herself milked seven of the family's 24 cows before going to Minneapolis to receive election returns. "Ma" and Mangus will take the younger three children to Washington when they go.

By a back door the senator leads his visitors into the kitchen, which is modern with a pump at the end instead of water faucets. On the sideboard stand freshly filled kerosene lamps.

Lillian goes back to clearing the dishes from the table and scrapes gravy from the cloth where the children had spilled it.

As Mangus talks he opens letters at a small roll-top desk in the sitting room. There are two sections of bookcases over the desk, but the books consist almost entirely of volumes of Minnesota legislative proceedings. Most conspicuous on the walls are old-time enlarged portraits in tarnished gilt frames, showing Mangus and his first wife. Some of the children sleep in couches in the sitting room.

Mangus tells his visitors that he was born in Sweden 52 years ago. He got good marks at school but left when he was 12. He worked on coast sailing vessels, developed his lungs in a glass factory and came to America at 20. After a few years as a lumberjack he moved to the farm which is home today, paying $15 an acre for the first 40 acres.

He's an Organizer

"I chopped over all this land myself," he tells you. "For 16 years I hauled cordwood to town, and the first organizing I ever did was to get farmers a fair price for wood."

Organizing has been his hobby instead of golf. He "had 10 jobs at once," he tells you. He has held various township offices and was an effective representative and state senator.

"I'll always keep the farm," he explains, and, incidentally, he shows more pride in his registered shorthorn bull than in his election.

"I like to do the chores around the farm. We're going to build a good house some day. That's a fine barn and now we want a house to match the barn. But we'll have to pay the mortgage first."

It is suggested that Washington will be different from the serenity of the farm.

"Those fellows there ain't going to learn me anything," says Mangus. "I've been going to school in politics since I was a boy in the old country. I've been to Washington a couple of times, and they're not going to slip anything over on me."

Again it wasn't a pose. Mangus is convincing.

EWING NOTES

Misses Katie and Lizzie Sloan, of Rose Hill, were the guests of their aunt, Mrs. C. E. Rowlette Saturday.

Mrs. Allen Sutton died at her home near here Sunday, and was buried Monday. She is survived by her husband and other relatives, who have the sympathy of the community.

Mrs. A. W. Johnson returned Friday from a visit at Shawanee, with relatives. She was accompanied home by Miss Maggie Fletcher who will be her guest for several days.

Mrs. J. M. Wheeler and Miss Bashie Kincaid are visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Thomas, of Cumberland Gap.

J. B. McLin returned Tuesday to his home in Irvin, Ky.

A dangerous automobile accident occurred Sunday, just west of Ewing, when a Mr. Vaughan, from Honaker, drove his Ford car out of the road into a ditch and turned over. He and his son, about 12 years old, the only occupants of the car, both received several slight injuries. The windshield of the car was broken, and also some other damages were done to it.

Mrs. W. S. Riley has returned to her home. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. E. Breeding.

G. C. Frazier left Tuesday for a motor trip to the Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Blacksburg. Mr. Frazier is a graduate from that institution, and will have charge of the Agricultural Department of L. C. I., again next term.

Athletic Park Trade Closed Announced to Kiwanis Today

Announcement of the purchase of the East End ball park as an athletic field for Middlesboro public schools was made at the regular Kiwanis luncheon today given by Judge J F Bosworth member of the Kiwanis committee appointed to obtain a suitable park The site was secured in consideration for $1000 and a piece of land owned by the city in the West End It was necessary to pay $127 extra for the grand stand which had already been sold The entire expense of $1127 will be covered by the Community Chest appropriation of $1400 allowing enough extra to provide for repairing the grand stand and the fence

The deal for the park was admirably handled by Manning and Co realtors particularly by J H Chesney and J J Manning The mayor returning for the city readily gave over the West End tract The Kiwanis Club appreciating these services have a vote of thanks to Mannings to the city and to the mayor A committee composed of C A Blackburn Hugh Allen and John Howard was appointed to express the clubs formal appreciation This same committee was also asked to draw up resolutions on the lamented death of F I Dickey member of the club

President A P Liebig talked a few minutes on the convention plans stating that all committees were now lined up well and quoting from letters from various clubs over the district

On suggestion of one member the club voted to take their automobiles some time in the near future and go over to Grace Netherton Home to give the orphans a ride in the country with perhaps a lunch to be served them at the end of the journey The committee to plan the trip and set the date for it is C G Smyth Jack Inman and F I Evans

John Howard was chairman of the meeting today and Dr R P Douglas Presbyterian minister was the chief speaker Dr Douglas gave an inspiring talk on Kiwanis ideals liberally interspersed with original stories which were greatly enjoyed by Kiwanians

To be good Kiwanians we must play the game fairly unselfishly he said Sacrifice is an essential in true constructive work the Kiwanians work He went on to show the necessity of clear straight thinking for honest construction saying that everything depended on our interpretation of the happenings in the world He mentioned Phi Thunder the noted statue saying that it typified the thinking man who had made the world by constructive thinking

In closing Dr Douglas said that if a man was not bigger than his classification he did not belong in the Kiwanis Club and that the true Kiwanian ideal was one who was continually growing and expanding and who gave no opportunity for reservation or compromises

J F Everett of Americus Ga and John Nees of Sweetwater Tenn were guests of the club today and made short talks

The following letter of appreciation from the lumbermen recent convention visit to here was read

I am instructed by the officers of our association and the members of those attending the mid-summer meeting at Middlesboro July 12 13 to draw up and present to you a fitting letter of thanks for the hospitality extended and though I have had long and wide experience in writing I find myself in difficulty for words with which to express briefly our appreciation for courtesies extended during our visit with you

May I put in the form of simple and sincere thanks to the Kiwanis Club for having us with them on ladies night and to the various members who volunteered their cars and their services on the sightseeing tour? And may I extend through you also our thanks to the management of the Manring Theatre to the new Cumberland Hotel and to the Bell County Lumber Co the City Lumber and Supply Co and the Allen Lumber Co whose guests we were on the occasion of your ladies night gathering

I cry mum and women mailing the trip and enjoying your hospitality said it was the best outing time ever had and join heartily in extending sincere thanks
